GIRL, 11, RAPED AT SAINSBURY'S

Victim's mum in plea to nail hooded teenage attacker

Sainsbury's

By Jane Winfield
 A GIRL of 11 was raped by a teenage boy in a Sainsbury's store in a London suburb, her mother says. The girl's mother, Mrs. [Name], said the attack took place on Monday night. She said the boy was wearing a hooded jacket and was armed with a knife. The girl was taken to hospital with injuries to her legs and was treated for several days. Mrs. [Name] said she was devastated by the attack and was pleading for the police to find the attacker as soon as possible. She said she was worried for the safety of other children in the area.

NUCLEAR POWER IS DANGEROUS, EXPENSIVE AND UNWANTED

(AND THAT'S THE VERDICT OF TONY BLAIR'S OWN ADVISERS)

By Michael Hardman
and Michael McCarthy

From the beginning of the 1950s, nuclear power was hailed as the Government's only solution to the world's energy needs. It was seen as a clean, safe and cheap source of power. But now, after 50 years, the world's nuclear industry is in a state of crisis. The International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) has warned that the world's nuclear industry is in a state of "collapse" and that the industry is "no longer viable".

British troops out of Iraq in two years, says general

General Sir Peter Walling, the British military commander in Iraq, has said that British troops should be withdrawn from the country within two years. He said that the current situation in Iraq is not sustainable and that the British government should plan for a full withdrawal. He also said that the British government should not be involved in the reconstruction of Iraq.

The US has snubbed Britain over sex criminals, a senior British diplomat has said. The Foreign Office has been told that the US State Department has decided to suspend the extradition of British sex offenders to the United States. This is a significant blow to the UK's efforts to combat sex crime, as the US is a major destination for such offenders. The decision is seen as a result of the UK's failure to provide more information on the activities of these criminals in the United States.
