

Fill in the gaps while listening:

Todd: So Jeyong, this is very interesting, you were a _____ in America for a long period of time. When did you _____ in America?

Jeyong: When? (Uh-huh) _____ school, third, yeah.

Todd: Ah, so were you just there for one year?

Jeyong: No, I was there for five years.

Todd: Five years!

Jeyong: Until _____.

Todd: Wow! So you were in America from the 3rd grade to the 8th grade? (Mm-hm) OK and you were also a student in China. (Yes) And when did you study in China?

Jeyong: That'd be for my _____ years.

Todd: Wow, for three years.

Jeyong: For two years.

Todd: Two years. Wow. Can you think of any _____ in the school life between China and the U.S.?

Jeyong: The school life. The friends were all very nice to me, _____ in America and China, but one thing I had a problem is I went to America with not even knowing the _____ so it was very hard for me to keep up with the English _____, together with the Americans at school, so in the beginning I would _____ all my tests and not even able to get a good _____ in any English _____, only in math would I, I got _____, but other than that, I was horrible but, in China, before I went to China, I _____ Chinese for four months, so that actually helped me a lot, so I was able to _____ the Chinese language pretty quickly.

Todd: Now you are completely _____ in English. Are you completely _____ in Chinese?

Jeyong: Now? (Mm-hm?) I can have a conversation fairly with Chinese friends.

Todd: Wow! Do you ever dream in Chinese or English?

Jeyong: That never _____ to me.

Todd: Ah, still in Korean.

Jeyong: Still in Korean and a little bit of English.

Todd: OK, how about the _____ at the schools? Are there any differences between a day at school in America and a day of school in China?

Jeyong: Well for America, I went with my family, so it would be a day school for me, and I would go to school at _____ in the morning, have lunch at school and come back home at _____, around that time, but in China I was in a _____, so I would wake up, I was forced to wake up at _____ in the morning, get ready, have breakfast and go to class at maybe _____, and then have lunch, and I was out of school at _____.

Todd: At night?

Jeyong: Night.

Todd: Whoa! That's a long day.

Jeyong: Long day. I had to study a lot in China.

Todd: Well, it sounds like a really good _____. You know that you were able to do both. You're very fortunate.

Jeyong: Yes, I feel that way too.
